DEATH OF WILLIAM ALBERT BROWN

William Albert Brown passed away at his home, 1037 San Rafael Avenue, Glendale, Monday, May 5, at the age of 58. He is deeply mourned by his widow, Hannah L. Brown, three daughters and a son: Mrs. Ruth A. Care of Glendale, Mrs. Hallie Gould of Deer Trail, who came to Glendale and was with her father when he died; Miss Florence L. Brown, who is a missionary in Lanchi, China, and Edward O. Brown, who recently returned from army service overseas, where he was chief commissary steward in naval base hospital No. 2. The deceased was in the employ of the Southern California Edison Company in Los Angeles for twenty years, and leaves a large circle of business friends and acquaintances by whom he will be greatly missed. His illness was brief and began April 6.

Funeral services will be held in the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Co. Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with interment in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

HER TENTH BIRTHDAY

The tenth birthday anniversary of Miss Sarah Ann Meek was a happy little event which was celebrated at the home of her friend, Mrs. Sidney Dell, May 4, 1919. Other guests present were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Meek, and her little brother, Kendrick Meek.

Mr. and Mrs. Meek will move on Thursday to their new home in Pomona, Cal., where Mr. Meek has engaged in a very lucrative business.

SERGEANT COOKMAN HOME

Sergeant Alfred Cookman, son of Rev. W. W. Cookman, pastor of the West Glendale M. E. Church, arrived at home a few days ago from West Baden, Ind., where he was attached to Base Hospital 35 as clinical expert. The hospital has been discontinued.

THE FIGHTING SPIRIT

DEVELOPMENT ASS'N. TO GIVE TELEPHONE COMPANY A KNOCK-OUT BLOW

Not for many years has a body of men come together in Glendale with such seriousness as on Tuesday evening when they assembled in the library of the Intermediate School, Glendale, at a regular meeting of the Greater Glendale Development Association, to discuss the telephone toll and rental questions. The meeting was called to order by Norton C. Wells, chairman, with C. D. Lusby, the association secretary, serving in his usual capacity. In the absence of City Attorney W. E. Evans, Attorney C. L. Chandler was asked to take a seat near the chairman that he might render legal counsel during the evening's session.

The minutes of the preceding special meeting held in the auditorium of the High School were read by the secretary.

The attendance was large at this meeting and everybody had come ready to sanction whatever action might be taken against the present unfair attitude of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. Captain D. Ripley Jackson fired the first gun of the evening by saying that all telephone subscribers of the Glendale exchange should get busy. He wished it distinctly understood that so far as he is personally concerned, he has his fighting clothes on and stands ready to spend both time and money to assist the people in getting their rights in this matter.

After considerable discussion and many suggestions as to the proper course to pursue in protecting the telephone users from exorbitant charges, on motion the chair was instructed to appoint a committee to present a request to the telephone company, signed by not less than two-thirds of the subscribers of the Glendale exchange. The chairman appointed as members of this committee, Glen Eley, O. M. Clinton, I. A. Ford, Captain D. Ripley Jackson and G. M. Taylor. This committee withdrew at once and after an absence of half an hour returned with the following report:

"To the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.:
"The subscribers to your telephone system, on the Glendale exchange, whose names are signed to the attached orders, believing that the new local exchange rate and toll charge to Los Angeles are unreasonable and unjustifiable and contrary to the best interests of the business of the city, do hereby request your corporation to eliminate the toll charge between this exchange and Los Angeles and return to the former exchange rate in effect on April 1, 1919.
"If you do not accede to this reasonable request, then remove all telephones as per orders hereto attached."

LIEUT. WITTMER HAPPY TO BE HOME

Lieut. J. H. Wittmer of 437 West Broadway returned to Glendale last week after receiving his discharge at the Presidio, San Francisco. He participated in St. Mihiel and then in the Argonne offensive in connection with Signal Service work in the laying of telephone lines and carrying dispatches at the front, and had some very narrow escapes. He is in splendid physical condition now and has gained twenty pounds since he left here to serve Uncle Sam. When questioned about battle conditions as to whether they realized his preconceived expectations, he declared they were much worse than he had imagined they could be because on a gigantic scale which would have to be experienced before it could be understood. The great difficulty while the offensive was on was the unceasing demands upon the men made necessary by the conditions of war and the impossibility of getting supplies of food and water to them at that time. The fatigue of the fighters was so great at times that they lost consciousness while moving and would go forward with the impression they had covered a long distance and when they awoke to a full sense of their surroundings would find it was but a short distance. Whenever conditions permitted they would drop down in any protection they could find and sleep as soundly as though in a bed at home. Occasionally they were moved to the rear for rest, but while it was a relief to be absent from the shriek of the shells directly overhead, there was not much rest about it as it involved the march to the rear and the march back. He has no complaints to make of his treatment as a soldier, and appears to consider that the war was conducted as well as it could be under all the conditions.

PEACE TREATY DELIVERED TO GERMANS

CEREMONY TOOK PLACE AT TRIANON PALACE, VERSAILLES, THIS AFTERNOON, WITH ITALIANS PRESENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Versailles, May 7.—The German delegates received the peace treaty at 3:17 o'clock this afternoon.

Clemenceau arrived at the Trianon Palace shortly before two. President Wilson came next, then Orlando, then other Italian delegates who arrived in Paris early this morning.

The plenary session convened at 3:10. The Germans entered the hall about six minutes before the session was called. Clemenceau spoke briefly. Then Secretary of the Conference Dutasta handed the Germans the manuscript treaty translated into German.

The Germans presented the Allies with a written statement which admitted wronging Belgium; agreed to reparation; declared "Germany was as humane as Allies" in the conduct of the war; charged that the Allies had killed Germans after the armistice was signed; said that guilt could only be determined after an impartial investigation, and added that German archives were available for investigation; said that the war would not be in vain if a League of Nations would be formed giving all nations an equal chance; agreed to the restoration of Belgium and Northern France, but refused to permit German war prisoners to be used in restorative work. The statement concluded with the words: "We will examine the documents submitted to us with good will and hope there will be peace to which all may subscribe."

The meeting adjourned at 3:58 and the treaty was then released to the press. It is 8,000 words long and is the most lengthy treaty ever made. When summarized the principal provisions are:

Preamble stating that the treaty ends the war.
League of Nations covenant.
Provision for restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France.
Temporary internationalization of the Saar Basin.
Permanent internationalization of Danzig.
Provision for agreement by Germany to territorial changes benefiting Belgium, Denmark and East Prussia.
Provision for the ceding to Poland of Upper Silesia.
Renunciation by Germany of all territorial and political rights outside of Europe.

Recognizes the independence of German-Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland.

Reduces the army to 100,000 and forbids conscription in Germany.

All German forts within fifty kilometers of the Rhine are to be razed.

Importation and exportation of munitions forbidden and their manufacture limited in Germany.

The Allies are to continue the occupation of parts of Germany until reparation is made.

German navy is to be reduced to 6 battleships, 6 cruisers, 12 torpedo boats, and submarines, and to be manned by not over 15,000 men.

All other German war vessels are to be surrendered or destroyed and no forts are to be built on the Baltic. Heligoland fortifications must be destroyed and Kiel Canal opened to all. All submarine cables must be surrendered and all air forces after October 1.

Germany accepts full responsibility for all damages to governments and civilians and agrees to reimburse civilians, beginning with twenty billion marks initial payment and securing further payments by a bond issue; must repay shipping damage ton for ton and must devote economic resources to rebuilding devastated regions.

Germany is to re-establish pre-war tariffs and the Allies are to have free transit through Germany.

Highly detailed provisions are made with reference to pre-war debts, unfair competition, internationalization of roads and rivers.

Holland is to be asked to extradite the kaiser and other war prisoners for trial.

Germany is to subscribe to the League of Nations principles without being a member, and is to agree to the creation of an international labor body, and of commissions to hold plebiscite Schleswig and East Prussia, the Allies to determine the disposition of the German colonies.

RACE BETWEEN SNYDER AND WOODMAN

POLITICIANS PREDICT THAT FORMER MAYOR SNYDER WILL HAVE LARGE SUPPORT FROM MOVIE INDUSTRY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Los Angeles, May 7.—With the returns only about one-fourth complete, indications early today were that Meredith P. Snyder, who three times has been mayor of Los Angeles, and Mayor Frederick T. Woodman were nominated at yesterday's primaries to make the race for mayor.

The returns available this morning gave Snyder 5,832; Woodman, 4,840; Weaver, 3,570; Williams, 1,132; Smith, 472; Small, 227. For council Bert L. Farmer, now president of the council, polled the heaviest vote on the early returns, with Boyle Workman second. Burnell leads for city attorney with James, Metcalf, Burks and Layng following in the order named.

With the prospects that Mayor Woodman and former Mayor Snyder will be the candidates at the final election, politicians were forecasting a whirlwind race. Snyder's campaign, they say, is bound to be spectacular on account of his support from the motion picture industry.

TELEPHONE SITUATION

CONTRIBUTOR THROWS LIGHT ON FINANCIAL CONDITION OF TELEPHONE COMPANY

Under above caption there appeared in the Monday issue of the News a very able and fair-minded article which set forth certain phases of the present controversy which are in danger of being overlooked and which appear, to a certain extent, to justify a raise in our telephone costs.

The conclusions arrived at concerning the methods adopted by the company and the effect on a justice-loving people are timely and to the point, however, in the language of this writer, "it seems to me that a few things should be said concerning the telephone situation which have not been brought out to my knowledge."

I received a notice from the company a few days ago stating, in part: "Owing to the necessity of securing additional revenue to cover the increased cost of rendering service under existing conditions, new schedules of exchange rates are placed in effect May 1, 1919, approved by Postmaster General." I find by my bill that this new rate with the raise last January amounts to a 50 per cent. raise on the local exchange over former rates and then in addition comes the 10-cent toll to Los Angeles which conservatively estimated means about $200 a day extra to the company from Glendale citizens. The "necessity" must be strenuous and bulk large on the company's horizon to require such drastic methods; let us see.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Company has issued an annual report to its stockholders covering the calendar year 1918 which report is somewhat confusing, owing to the fact that the Government assumed control for the last five months and the scope of the report was changed for such period. For the first seven months the report concerns the Bell telephone system, of which our local company is a part, see page 3 of the report.

During these seven months the operating revenues of the system were (see page 7) $182,800,000, an increase of $13,300,000 over same period of the preceding year, depreciation and maintenance consumed $54,400,000.

GLENDALE EX-SOLDIER IN DEMAND AS LECTURER

Sergeant Alfred Cookman of the Medical Department, U. S. Army, who has recently returned to his home in Glendale having been "with the colors" nearly a year as a clinician in various hospitals throughout the East, will deliver a series of lectures before various clubs of Southern California. Mr. Cookman is an ornithologist and teacher by profession, a lover of the great outdoors.

On May 9th, the Long Beach Women's City Club will hear Mr. Cookman and on May 25th he will speak in the Hollywood Public Library. His topic is "Huns of the Air."

DELIGHTFUL TRIP AND VISIT

Edward Stockbridge of 231 North Adams street was the weekend guest of his friend and physician, Edward C. Beach, of Los Angeles at his date ranch in the Coachella Valley near Indio, Cal. The trip was made by auto. Edward reports a delightful time and the promise of many others to follow, also reports having seen his first rattler. Dr. Beach, who is at the head of physical training in the Los Angeles public schools, has just returned after nearly two years' service on Uncle Sam's War Board.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ELECTION

Glendale Commandery No. 53, Knights Templar, at its regular meeting Monday evening elected officers as follows: D. G. Crofton, Commander; Percy J. Prialux, Generalissimo; Dan Campbell, Captain General; George U. Moyse, Senior Warden; Roy V. Hogue, Junior Warden; O. E. Von Oven, Prelate; F. H. Vesper, Treasurer; C. C. Rittenhouse, Recorder. Installation ceremonies will be held Monday, May 19th.

HAROLD SALISBURY DISCHARGED

Harold Salisbury, who has been in service with Company B of the 316th Signal Corps, has received his discharge at Camp Kearny and is now at home in Glendale. He looks well and is delighted to be here once more.

ARGONNE TANK

TO VISIT GLENDALE THURSDAY NIGHT TO HELP IN VICTORY LOAN SALES

Up to Monday night sales of Victory Loan Bonds in Glendale had totaled $81,600.

Inquiry at the headquarters of the Victory Loan reveals the fact that splendid work is being done by some of the workers and that certain districts of the city are well organized while in others the workers are few.

Mrs. Meeker, Chairman of the Woman's Committee, is active in spite of the remonstrances of her physician, for she has never fully recovered from a severe attack of influenza, and has been confined to her bed by illness since the drive began.

She has been fortunate in enlisting the aid of a war tank which went through the Argonne offensive and which will be here Thursday evening of the present week with a crew of war workers. It will be accompanied by the Arcadia Military Band by soldiers wounded in battle, and by a group of talented movie actors who will entertain the people while the bond selling is going on. The tank will be stationed as before on Broadway between Brand and Central Ave., and will arrive Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Some of the Boy Scouts are taking a lively interest in the drive and members of Troop 4 under Scout Master Fred Biren plan to have a Victory Bond parade on Thursday after school. There are about twenty boys in the troop and their school fellows who have guns will be invited to join in the parade. The march will be made on Broadway and Brand and their plans include a stand where bonds will be sold. Leaders who are organizing the affair are Wallace Haines and William Bradbury. Other Boy Scouts who are working are Glen Roberts of 118 Park avenue, George Penfield, Robert Burns, Harvey Gillette and Sherman Quick.

The elementary schools of Glendale are also organized to a greater or less extent and working under the

BIGGER NATIONALISM

DR. SILAS EVANS THUS CHARACTERIZES AMERICA'S PARTICIPATION IN LEAGUE

Dr. Silas Evans who spoke at Glendale Union High School Tuesday evening on the League of Nations under the auspices of the University of California is of easy pleasant address and was so full of his subject that he was not confined to any set lecture. This promoted a spontaneity that was greatly appreciated by his audience which was fair—not large, and made up to a considerable extent of students and teachers.

In brief, he expressed his own belief in the League of Nations as the logical development of the American ideal and the Monroe doctrine, the banding together of the strong for the protection of the weak—in this case the strong nations for the safety of the struggling democracies whom he likened to the children of the big democracies, who, as parents are obligated to protect them.

To quote Washington as against the League of Nations because of what he said about entangling foreign alliances, "was the limit," he thought. He then proceeded to show how advanced was the stand taken by Washington in bringing about the union of the colonies under a constitution he helped to frame and of which he said: "The states will indorse and ratify that or the next one will be within in blood." Were Washington here now and sitting in the seat of President Wilson, he opined, he would again say: "The Nations will sign that or the next one will be written in blood." the blood of Bolshevism.

"We have come," said Dr. Evans, "to a day when the Nations must cooperate to save the world from suicide."

He admitted that the league constitution is not perfect and that it never will be perfect because it is the product of finite mind; that we never can get "the impossible best," as Roosevelt phrased it, because of human limitations and the diversity of men's minds.

He likewise said that we must have a historic circumstance that will justify a great idea before the great idea can be put across, and he seemed to think the war was the historic circumstance and the league the great idea. "Ever since the days of Franklin," said he, "we have had a passion

AN UNGRATEFUL PEOPLE

The Mexican government withdrew its delegates from the peace conference at Paris because the Monroe Doctrine was recognized. What a short-sighted and ungrateful lot these Mexicans are. If it had not been for this same Monroe Doctrine, Mexico would have been for many years an Austrian or French colony. Exhausted as she was by the war of the rebellion and burdened with debt, yet this great America hesitated not one moment when monarchical France and Austria proposed to carry out their plan of subduing Mexico and placing a scion of the degenerate Hapsburgs on a bloody throne in the "halls of the Montezumas." The old world nations were politely but firmly notified that this nation would not tolerate any infringement of the Monroe Doctrine and that all support of the Austrian usurper, Maximilian, must be withdrawn. France and Austria, then ruled respectively by Napoleon III and Franz Joseph, both "emperors by Divine right," hastily withdrew all their forces and notified Maximilian he must look out for himself. The Mexican forces, thus encouraged by America's support, quickly rallied, defeated the hated Austrian and executed him. More than once since then has the United States government stood between Mexico and the wrath of European powers. But all that is forgotten now and this country is again flouted as she has been numberless times in the past few years.

When the people have a good cause to support, their efforts will always meet with success if they work in harmony. It is a lack of harmony on the part of supporters of a good cause that leads to its defeat.

Of Course You Expect to Live in Southern California Sometime and are pulling all the strings possible, to that end. You live only one life here. Why not arrange your affairs quickly and come to this garden spot now?

Los Angeles, metropolis, has a suburban city which you should not fail to visit before making a final decision as to location. That city is situated about eight miles due north of the heart of Los Angeles, reached in 30 minutes by fast electric trains which run every 15 or 20 minutes.

Nowhere are the advantages of city and country life so intermingled, and nowhere, we believe, is such an ideal spot for a home, when everything is considered.

Do you like proximity to a large city? Here it is. Do you want the freedom, health and fresh air of the country? You have it here.

Glendale's municipally-owned water and lighting systems are models and our low rates equalled by few communities. Our water is the best in the state, and our street lights the envy of every sister city. Inquire as to the splendid schools and churches we have; as to our paved, clean streets; as to our great natural drainage; fine air, sandy loam soil, which will grow practically anything under the sun with the least labor, and you will know the reasons for our wonderful growth from a sheep-ranch to a city of 13,000 people in a few years.

You may imagine that the people, too, are just the type that you will like to live among—very few rich, no paupers—nearly all of that large middle class which is the backbone of the country and whom Lincoln said the Lord must have loved, because he made so many of 'em.

NOW A LIVING LINK

In the Christian churches of the nation any congregation, Sunday School or local Missionary Society that gives $600 a year for missions, thus supporting a foreign worker or a foreign station, is called a living link church, school or society. The Central Christian Church of this city now is entitled to that designation, as arrangements have been made to support a mission station in Africa and the raising of the fund is provided for.

CARDIFF. (By Mail).—A situation worthy of Gilbert & Sullivan's "Trial by Jury" developed here when a girls' class from the Howells Girls' School, Llandaff, filed past the jury box in order that judge and jury might judge as to their physical condition. The case was one in which the father of a pupil sued the governors of the school for damages, alleging that his daughter was not properly fed. The inspection of a class satisfied the court that the majority of the girls seemed to be doing fairly well on the food supplied, and the jury decided against the indignant father.

BY WILLIAM W. PORTER, C. S. B., MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF LECTURES OF THE MOTHER CHURCH, THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, IN BOSTON, MASS.

William W. Pover, C. S. B., of New York, a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., delivered a lecture on Christian Science, Tuesday evening, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Glendale, in the church edifice, Maryland and California avenues.

William W. Pover, C. S. B., of New York, a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., delivered a lecture on Christian Science, Tuesday evening, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Glendale, in the church edifice, Maryland and California avenues.

Mr. Porter was introduced by Mr. Dale G. Vaughan, First Reader of the Church, who said:

“Many have found that Comforter in Christian Science, for through its teachings they have gained an under-underlying desires of mankind for the attainment of harmony and good.

Underlying Desire for Good

Natural Development
The demonstration of Christian Science in the healing of the sick and the reconstruction of human thought on lines of right activity is today an accomplished and acknowledged fact. Thinking men and women are asking with growing interest, Why is it that Christian Science has attained its present stage of demonstration and development during the comparatively short period of fifty-four years? It is evident, in this connection, that if the existing systems of religion and medicine had been adequate to meet the needs or to satisfy the desires of mankind, no other system would ever have been necessary or even possible.

According to the scripture narrative, the building of this tower seemed to proceed harmoniously for a time. Then, owing to the great number of people engaged upon the work, and the great diversity of opinions, plans and tongues, serious interference and conflict were encountered. So great was this interference that confusion ensued, and finally the builders were compelled to leave off the work of building, and they were scattered to the four quarters of the earth.

Since the physical senses cannot satisfy either to accuracy or to enduring permanence, it follows that the reasoning of the human mind which is based upon the uncertain testimony of these physical senses cannot furnish a satisfactory basis upon which to build either religious, ethical or healing systems. On the other hand, if religion, healing and government are laid in Mind—in principle, Truth or God—they will reflect the unlimited and inexhaustible resources of infinite Mind, provided always that this Mind is scientifically understood and demonstrated.

Christian Science has been criticized for its declaration that evil and matter are not real. Religion and material medicine, however, have throughout their respective histories been engaged in trying to overcome the afflictions of the one and to escape the limitations of the other, and thus prove their unreality. If evil and sickness be real, the effort to escape their ravages, either through religion or science, would be futile.

It is admitted without any argument that a person who is holding

Restorative Definitions

Christian Science, in this connection, unfolds certain fundamental and primary ideas. One such primary idea is this: Mankind is conscious at least of existence. This consciousness of existence indicates and implies Mind. In fact, without Mind, there could be no consciousness, hence no consciousness of existence. When speaking of Mind in Christian Science, let it be understood that it is not the limited, human sense of mind which is referred to, nor the sense of mind which is supposed to be synonymous with the human brain and supposed to be located within the human skull, but that Mind which is infinite in its being, resource, capacity, wisdom, power, identity. This Mind, then, can be said to have sense, for it can be no consciousness of existence, and hence no existence, must be the creator of all that exists;—this Mind must be that which we mean, or ought to mean, when we think of or

In this realization of the nature or character of God, one becomes conscious of a peace which the world, or

He will not again, at least in the same degree as he may have done in the past, suffer through discouragement, depression or fear that he may possibly be separated from God.

In considering the nature or character of God, one may view with commiseration the worshipper of idols no bows down to a graven stone image, and say to such a worshipper: my friend, do you not know that it is wrong for you to bow down to a ritten: "Thou shalt not make un-

Now, suppose, as indicating the nature or character of God, you were to say to this worshipper of idols. My friend, do you remember the day when you were roaming among the hills and found a stricken deer? You were about to end its existence merely to gratify an impulse to destroy, when something in the circumstance caused you to withhold your hand, and instead you bound up its wounds in such a manner that it was able to go away into the hills. You proceed to tell him that that which caused him to withhold his hand and to bind up the wounds of the deer was mercy, tenderness, compassion. These, you explain to him, are qualities of Love. And you tell him that God is Love.

You further cite to him an instance where two men owning jointly a piece of ground much desired by both were about to engage in warfare in order that one might possess, when one said to the other, Why should we fight and kill? Your family has need of you. Let us see if we cannot find some right way out that will be satisfactory to us both. Pondering thus, they turned aside from thoughts of killing. You show him that that which prevented warfare between the two men was compassion, humanity, equity, and justice. These, you explain to him again, are qualities of intelligence or Mind. And you again tell him that God is Love, and that God is Mind.

Orthodoxy

The objection is sometimes made that Christian Science is not ortho-

The objection is sometimes made that Christian Science is not orthodox. This brings up the question of what is and what is not orthodox. Human opinions combine in a statement of beliefs and then declare that those who differ from beliefs thus stated are unorthodox. The amount of this is: If you believe as we do, then you are orthodox. If you do not believe as we do, then you are decidedly unorthodox and—"do not believe in the divinity of Christ!" Mr. Eddy has written in this connection on page 25 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "The divinity of Christ was made manifest in the humanity of Jesus."

On page 497 of the Christian Science textbook will be found the religious tenets of Christian Science.

that it anticipates and preponderates of evil in all things, it will be seen at once that the majority of the impressions or suggestions thus coming to this human mind involve a preponderance of evil, which later will be reproduced in active experience.
On the other hand, that person whose thoughts are constantly fortified by the divine Principle and Truth, who discriminate intelligently between the impressions and suggestions which present themselves, excluding those which later produce sin, sickness and death. Such a person, furthermore, through the demonstration of Christian Science, admits into his consciousness those ideas of truth and good which he is later to see reproduced in his active experience, in facts of health, strength, righteousness and peace.

If one was seeking a vivid example of mental suggestion it would not be necessary to go any further than to look upon any so-called epidemic of disease which from time to time sweeps over this or any other coun-

During the course of a recent so-called epidemic of disease, I have encountered numerous interesting experiences, some of which have been quite illuminating. In some of the cities visited schools, churches, theaters and public gathering places generally were entirely closed. In other cities conditions varied as thought varied. In one very large city the regulations provided that church services might be held if the members of the congregations were seated at intervals of four feet apart. It was not apparent just how those who were responsible for the order arrived at this exact placement of four feet. I dare say the theory may have been that an active young germ at his best might not be able to jump so far as four feet.

The wisdom of this policy is shown by records which indicate that the mortality and sick rate were much lower in New York City during this particular epidemic than in other cities and localities throughout the country which had been held under oreboding bans and bulletins of fear. This is particularly gratifying, since it is traditional with New York, that if it has an epidemic or anything else, its pride is to "get" it a little bit harder than any other locality.

Graduating from a medical school about a quarter of a century ago, a gentleman of my acquaintance followed the practice of medicine for a period of years, until he learned that there was another and better way in which the sick were healed and the living regenerated, by one and the same process in Christian Science.

Since that time this gentleman has devoted his activities and energies to the field of Christian Science. Some months ago business called this man to the city where the medical school is located from which he was graduated. Coming into the hall of biology, he found the professor in charge and a large class of students each usually engaged with his own microscope in carrying out bacteriological examinations. Upon being intro-

"I came to this professor, the gentleman said to him: "Well, Professor, how far along have you gotten with this thing?" The professor, somewhat surprised, asked him what he meant by his question. "Well," answered the gentleman, "twenty-four years ago I was here in this very room doing the very things that you are doing here this morning, and I was wondering as I came into the hall how far you have gotten along with the work in these twenty-four years. Have you found out yet, which is first, the germ or the disease?" "Oh," replied the professor, looking at him curiously for a moment, "you come around again in twenty-four years."

All there is to a germ is a diseased thought; and all there is to a diseased thought-germ is in, to and of the mortal mind, that mind which is thus described as a liar, "a murderer from the beginning" and without truth. Mrs. Eddy refers to this subject on page 164 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" when she says, "Much yet remains to be said of the germ, before all mankind are saved and all the mortal robes of sin and all diseased thought-germs are exterminated." The Christian Scientist knows that the idea of Truth, of Mind or God will once destroy diseased thoughts, whose only existence is in, to and of the mortal mind. This mortal mind being a liar, and having no truth in itself, cannot produce in its

In the use of a material medicine or serum, no intelligent person would agree for a moment that the drug or serum has intelligence or wisdom in itself to go to a certain part of the human organization and there do the exact thing necessary to be done in order to establish harmony. Neither would any intelligent person agree that the drug or serum has a supernatural or magical power enabling it to establish harmony. Then it follows that there must be a combination of faith and mental suggestion that operates to produce whatever result is supposed to follow the use of the drug or serum.

The comfort and help that have been brought to mankind through the lives of noble men and women devoted to the relief of human suffering have been due to their honest prayers, desires and unselfish love for mankind, and not to any superstition or makeshift of matter.

One may object to this and say: Why, there is no logic in such an argument. The chalk is simply a piece of inorganic matter; it has no intelligence or mind as has the human body. Ah! It is the mind, then, associated with the material body, which must be taken into consideration and treated! In this event, where in mind will one inject a serum or introduce a drug?

Since it is the human mind that is to be treated, then it must be the human mind that is sick. It is obvious that that which is sick cannot be its own healer, else it would not be sick. It follows, then, that the divine or immortal Mind is the only medicine and healer that can be used legitimately to cure the sick mortal mind.

Through this action of the divine Mind the mortal mind is disabused of the belief that it has a sick body. This procedure is scientific and true, and if followed understandingly and consistently will reconstruct and heal the sick and the sinning.

The Christian Scientist, when handling disease, has no fear of the germ enemy despite the testimony of the physical senses, and despite the conclusions advanced by human reason based upon the testimony of the physical senses. He knows something, at least, of what the omnipresence of God means. He knows that it means the omnipresence of divine Mind. Wherever he goes this presence or omnipresence is with him, regardless of what the physical senses may testify as to the assumed presence and power of enemy microbe or enemy germ. The universe of the Christian Scientist is filled with God's ideas,—with ideas of Life, Mind, Love—instead of diseased hought-germs of the mortal mind. He knows that this mortal mind, being a liar without truth or reality, cannot produce anything that is true, real or that has power. Having earned something of the omnipotence and omnipresence of God, the endeavor of the Christian Scientist is to reflect or express this omnipresence and power in healing the sick and in reconstructing the thought. He knows, in a degree, that the omnipotence of God, good, is not a divided omnipotence in which sin, disease and death are also factors.

With thought thus established, the Christian Scientist is not particularly disturbed by so-called climatic changes, seasonal changes, or changes of the weather. He has learned that his business is not with climatic or seasonal changes, with colds, coughs, influenza or whatever else it may be called tomorrow. He knows that his business first, last and always is with God, the divine and immortal Mind whose name, nature, or character is everywhere present and always operative for the good of mankind.

It has been objected that Christian Scientists do not participate in the work of public charities. This, however, is an erroneous impression which has grown out of the fact that Christian Scientists do not pursue the methods that are generally followed in raising and distributing so-called charity funds. While they are liberators of subscribers to funds for the alleviation of human suffering and urgent need, their thought in regard to charity is best expressed by a statement in the first paragraph of the "Preface to the Miscellaneous Writings" by Mrs. Eddy, as follows: "A certain apothegm of a Calmudical philosopher suits my sense of dog good. It reads thus: 'The noblest charity is to prevent a man from accepting charity and the best ways are to show and enable a man to dispense with alms.'"

There are approximately six thousand Christian Science practitioners whose names appear in the Christian Science Journal at this date. It is not an overstatement to say that there is an average of one patient calling upon each of these practitioners.

tions daily and receiving treatment for which the patients are not in position to make financial payment. There are, therefore, six thousand persons throughout the world who are daily receiving from Christian Science practitioners the treatment and help which is healing them of physical, moral, mental and spiritual ills. Add to this the number of persons who are being treated by Christian Scientists other than listed practitioners, and it would be safe to say that there are at least ten thousand patients throughout the world receiving daily this necessary help gratuitously. Furthermore, and here is the unusual fact that distinguishes a Christian Science treatment from any other form of treatment, these ten thousand persons who are being treated daily are not only being healed of their ills, but are being put in a position to dispense with charity in the form of alms, and are equipped to occupy positions of respect, responsibility and independence in the communities in which they reside. Christian Scientists do not feel that they are entitled to any special commendation for work of this character. Since the criticism has been made, however, that Christian Scientists do not engage in any charitable work, the above facts are stated simply as facts which may not be entirely without interest and significance.

The World War.

The activities of Christian Scientists during the world war which has recently closed are so well known that it is not necessary to rehearse a history of those activities at this time. In this connection it is only necessary to state that since the outbreak of the world war hostilities, Christian Scientists have been a unit in the policies of our government and its allies. This support on the part of Christian Scientists has been given through every line of right activity established by our government at home and abroad. Christian Scientists recognized quite generally at the outbreak of the war that the battle was not so much a struggle between men or between nations, but, in the language of St. Paul, the warfare was "against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places."

Today, as the atmosphere of peace and justice settles upon the nations of the world, Christian Scientists understand that the victory is not a victory of men over men, or of nations over nations, but is a victory of right over wrong, of good over evil—a victory of the true idea of government by Principle and Truth as distinguished from the autocratic personal control of men over men. It is in this demonstration of the reality and availability of the power and presence of God, Good, to overthrow and destroy the beliefs of evil that Christian Scientists rejoice with unspeakable joy.

Healing Propaganda

One is beginning to hear the statement made that Christian Scientists have a very efficient method of carrying on religious propaganda. This statement, without doubt, is based upon the steady growth of Christian Science throughout the world. In order that one may avoid unjust criticism it is important that a clear distinction be made at this point. The work of Christian Science is healing and educational. It is not propaganda.

The difference between the healing and educational work of Christian Science and a process of propaganda, ecclesiastical, political, medical or otherwise, is as distinct as day and night. Christian Science places before human thought the fact of healing as self-evident truth. On the other hand, what is termed propaganda presents to thought certain statements which do not bear the conviction of self-evident truth within themselves. Such statements require a system of mental suggestion, or mental influence apart from themselves to bring about their acceptance. The theory of propaganda, therefore, involves the erroneous basis that, if you can succeed in making all of the people believe a thing is so, it will be so.

The subtlety and error of such a theory should be apparent in these days to the most casual observer. The great world war now closing was brought about by this theory of suggestive propaganda. Furthermore, the breaking up of the world war has disclosed the logical result of this distorted theory—its total and dismal failure as applied to the government of nations.

The Homeland

The Scriptures inform us that Abraham went out from his father's house seeking a "city that hath foundations," a new country. This new country, as it is revealed in Christian Science, is not just a quantity of material earth bounded by geographical lines and designated by the name of a nation. It is not just the green shaded lanes and murmuring brooks, however dearly treasured from childhood days and associated with homeland they may seem to be. The Homeland, Native Country, Fatherland, is that city sought by Abraham. Homeland is that understanding of Principle or God which unfolds true and right ideas leading into constructive reform and goodwill to men. It is not to be entered by the portals of what mortals believe to be death, but by an understanding and demonstration of the qualities of eternal Truth and good, today and here. The Fatherland is that realm of infinite Mind in which ideas of constructive good are continually unfolding. It is that realm of Mind in which the flower never loses its fragrance, in which love never becomes unlovely nor ceases its wholesome and pure incentives. This is the Father-Motherland toward which mankind are looking in Christian Science. This understanding of Homeland builds up the true sense of loyalty and patriotism to God, country and mankind. Men and women have been mesmerized and turned away from the contemplation of this true Fatherland by the suggestive propaganda of the mortal mind. This suggestive propaganda has built up misleading concepts of religion, government and healing. Viewing these limited and false boundaries, this fatherland developed by and through the belief that matter is real, intelligent and desirable, Jesus said with characteristic alertness, "Arise, let us go hence!" Christian Science alone will enable men and nations to cease from the use of suggestive propaganda, and to escape, likewise, being used thereby.

Gratitude to Mrs. Eddy

Christian Scientists have a tender regard, love and gratitude for their revered Leader. It would not be right to assume that there is anything in the nature of personal worship in this attitude. On the contrary, this feeling of regard and gratitude is an acknowledgment and recognition of the broad universal service to humanity which characterized Mrs. Eddy's life.

From the time of her healing on that memorable Sunday morning in the year 1866, Mrs. Eddy's life was spent consistently and exclusively in unfolding the facts connected with her healing in such terms and manner as would best be understood by the human mind. It was necessary that these facts should be rightly correlated, and the science which governed them made clear, in order that mankind always shall have at hand the means to alleviate and heal sin, sickness and sorrow.

It is not unnatural, therefore, that one who has been thus healed should express gratitude to God for Christian Science. Neither is it strange that such a one should express gratitude as well to the noble woman whose life work made it possible to experience such healing and peace.

Fulfillment

It is recorded of Jesus that, coming to the City of Nazareth, he entered the synagogue and, taking up the Book, opened it to the place where it is written: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord." And closing the Book, he said to those who were gathered about: "This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears."

Likewise, my friends, the recognition is growing among intelligent people everywhere that the works of Christian Science reflect the existence of a definite law. Furthermore, the recognition is growing that the operation of this law is available in Christian Science to heal and bless all mankind in the degree that the law is rightly understood and put into practice.

The Christian Science Textbook

The statement of this law, or Christian Science, and the method of application are found in all of the writings of Mrs. Eddy, more especially in the book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," which is the only textbook on Christian Science healing.

One edition of this work is printed in the English language throughout. One edition is printed in the French language, with the English translation on opposite pages. And one edition is printed in the German language, with the English translation on opposite pages. The language of Spirit is universal. No human tongue can frame the sound of Spirit. No mortal eye can see, no ear hear the presence of Spirit. The witness, however, of Spirit, is the same in all languages. This witness is the sign of healing and regeneration.

This book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," is unfolding to mankind the true idea of Causation or God. This unfolding is reflected in a higher idea of life, more adequate health, courage, confidence, ability, strength, uprightness, honesty and goodwill. As these fruits of Christian Science come into your experience, you will recognize that they belong to and identify the nature or character of God. Thus, these fruits will be to you the witness or evidence of Immanuel, or "God with us"—God with you—and, my friends, if God, the one eternal Mind or Causation be with you here and now, Why search the future and the past? Why do ye look with tearful eyes, And seek, far off, for Paradise? Beneath thy feet, Life's pearl is cast.

for peace to be brought about by conference."

The technique of the league constitution he said he could not defend, but it was clearer in the second draft, and he explained some of its provisions, viz., for a general assembly of 32 and a more powerful council of nine made up of the five Allies and four others and in which each member would have but one vote, even the British Empire but one vote, contrary to the representations of certain trouble makers.

Unless America would go in, it was admitted there could be no League of Nations, said he, "and unless there be a League of Nations it will break the heart of the world."

The League of Nations is radical," he said, "but the day calls for radicalism. When we went into the war we did it against the peaceful spirit of America, against the grain of the Monroe Doctrine, against our disinclination to entangling alliances. We did it because the righteous demand for justice, and respect for law was a call to America to do it.

"President Wilson has said: 'There will never be another neutral.' We are traveling in an auto in the life of the world, but we are traveling in a go-cart in our politics. Our politics must be internationalized as our life has become internationalized. We are now inextricably bound together."

Labor legislation, prohibition, equal suffrage and many other things sought to be interjected into the league constitution he thought had no place there. Rather, he declared, it should be a document of broad comprehensive principles like the constitution of the United States, without too many statutory provisions.

He expressed the opinion that the President would carry his point in regard to Fiume and make it an open port for the use of the little Nations whose lives are dependent upon such an outlet and that the ruling can be enforced because Fiume was not specifically mentioned in the treaty with England, whereas Shantung was mentioned in the written agreement with Japan and will be harder to negotiate.

England and America as mother and daughter, he believes, will henceforth play the game together.

In closing he said: "I believe in the League of Nations as a matter of patriotism. I believe this nation is a greater nation when it has a world program than when it has a little small, withering, ingrowing toenail conception of nationalism. (Laughter and applause.)

"I believe, too, our honor is at stake. When we consider the things for which we entered the war, we should see it through."

In answers to questions he elucidated somewhat his opinions relative to the rulings on Fiume and Shantung, also in regard to the Monroe Doctrine which, he declared, is now being put into the league of the world and which didn't mean much until it got into the League of Nations, where it will protect the little countries.

Dr. Evans was introduced by Principal George U. Moyses, who explained that he came under the auspices of the University of California which is endeavoring to promote the community idea and community discussion.

ACID STOMACH, TORPID LIVER, INDIGESTION, FREE HEALTH DEMONSTRATIONS TONIGHT

Health lectures in the Methodist Church continue to draw large audiences. Mr. J. Paul Elliott, director of the largest health clubs in the nation who has recently returned from 21 months' service on one of our battle-ships will give free demonstrations in health culture exercises at the close of the lecture tonight by J. C. Elliott. He will demonstrate the work done in his large clubs. Acid stomach, torpid liver, indigestion will be the subjects discussed. Commencing tomorrow all lectures will be in the Congregational Church. Subject at 2:30, "Worry and Nervous Prostration;" at 7:45, "Diet and Bathing in Rheumatism." Admission free.

Acid stomach and torpid liver, Mr. Elliott says, cause great distress and are the starting point of many of the serious diseases of the body. The acid stomach is usually produced by wrong combinations of the food supply or by the surplus food that must rot and decompose in the stomach and the intestines. The sedentary life and lack of exercise is another cause of acid stomach. The stomach must have a generous supply of rich blood for digestion of the food supply. Lack of exercise and lack of the blood building foods will cause the food to ferment in the stomach and produce gas pressure which will poison the cell life of the whole body and bring such distress to the heart that many believe they have organic heart trouble.

The torpid liver is one of the danger signals of health and life. The liver is the greatest manufacturing plant in the world for its size. It weighs but about four pounds but must manufacture two and one-half pounds of bile per day or nine hundred pounds of bile per annum. When the liver becomes torpid this process ceases and the poisons that should be eliminated through the liver are distributed through the whole body and we become bilious and suffer from auto-intoxication, nervous and sick headache and other diseases peculiar to the torpid liver. The subject of the lecture, Wednesday, 7:45, will be "Foods Producing Energy, Strength and Endurance." This means the elimination of weakness, languor and fatigue from our daily lives. The stomach is one of the most interesting organs of the body. It is the great central dynamo of the food supply; the grist mill grinding the food supply for millions of cells in the body. It endures more abuse than any other organ of the body. Its delicate membrane lining the inner walls digests all kinds of flesh, yet never digests its self. Dyspepsia is the product of continued abuse and neglect of the stomach. Indigestion is caused by the hot greasy foods, wrong combinations of food, and the excessive amounts, which must rot and decay in the stomach and the intestines.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH NIGHT

The members of the Congregational Church and congregation will meet this (Wednesday) evening and have dinner at 6:30 o'clock. A committee consisting of Mrs. J. R. King, Mrs. A. O. Richards and Mrs. E. H. Willisford have the charge of serving a simple but substantial meal. The members of the young people's Sunday School class will act as the waiters.

After the dinner there will be an opportunity for the meeting of church committees, after which the pastor will preside at a brief business and devotional meeting.

Following this there will be a social time. On the first Wednesday night of each month such a meeting as this is held. While affording a better opportunity to become better acquainted it also affords more of a chance to learn about the business matters of the church.

Thursday many of the ladies will go to the delightful home of Mrs. Wm. Goodridge on Bena Way, where the monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held.

The Woman's Missionary Society plans to be represented at the missionary rally to be held Friday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church.

Next week a number of the church members go to Whittier to attend the annual conference of the Congregational Churches of Southern California.

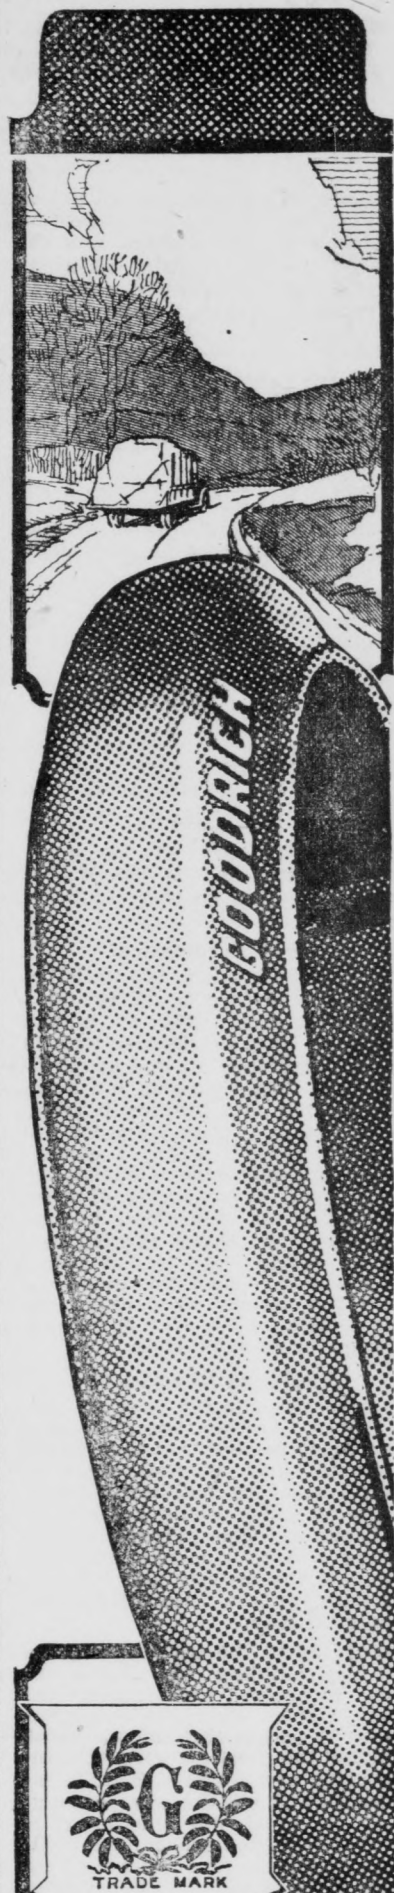

"BUILD NOW" CAMPAIGN ON IN KANSAS CITY

(By United Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 7.—An extended "Build Now" drive is proving the means of stimulating unprecedented interest in buying and building homes and other buildings here.

A Build Now campaign committee, through established headquarters, is furnishing information to prospective builders and buyers. Reports show that many individuals are taking advantage of the opportunity to relieve the building shortage.

F. C. Sharon, in charge of the campaign, says: "We have provided a simple system explaining the procedure essential in financing a building for those who will want to do business on the payment plan. In buying or having a building erected, reliable parties can be so aided in making loans that the payment of same will not be a bit harder on them than paying rent."

And Not One Broken Egg

Nothing quite so strikingly demonstrates the resilience and cushioning properties of GOODRICH DE LUXE Truck Tires as a recent 32-mile trip from a New Jersey farm to New York by a motor truck carrying 800 dozen eggs.

Riding on these deep, broad-shouldered treads this truck, despite "chuck holes," reached Gotham without so much as a single egg being broken!

Such performance justifies the selection by large cartage companies of these burly cushions as the best insurance for fragile materials and valuable cargo in transit.

Because DE LUXE resilience measured with DE LUXE durability makes these tires the most economical tire investment procurable. Let us give you further facts and figures.

VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Umbaugh, who have been living at 343 West Harvard street, moved Monday to Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Weaver, 145 North Kenwood street, are enjoying a short visit from their daughter, Miss Elizabeth I. Weaver, of Seattle, Washington.

Sam Reed, the son of S. J. Reed of Cedar street, returned the first of the week from service overseas, to the great happiness of his relatives and friends.

Mrs. Colby, wife of H. E. Colby, formerly in the real estate business in this city, now living in Loma Linda, is spending a few days in Glendale visiting with old friends.

Mrs. A. H. Dibbern of 208 West Lomita got back Sunday from a three weeks' stay in Berkeley and San Francisco, where she visited an aunt and friends. She reports fine weather all the time she was gone.

Mrs. M. W. McLane of Oskaloosa, Iowa, who is in Los Angeles for her health, came out to Glendale Sunday for a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schrader, 1224 Dorothy Drive. Mrs. McLane is an aunt of Mrs. Schrader.

Thomas Ashton, the plumber, and Mrs. Ashton, have just leased the apartments known as Hotel Gray and will reopen them as a rooming house May 15th. As there is considerable call for rooms, the news will be of interest to many people.

Miss Zoe Royce, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. Irvin Royce, and well known to patrons of the Virginia Sweet Shop where she is employed, is taking a vacation and has gone for a stay of several weeks in Fresno where she is visiting friends.

The heavy demands of the expanding business of Dr. Henry R. Harrower are such that Mrs. May E. Myton has been obliged to vacate her apartment at 704 East Broadway that the doctor may have complete possession of the building.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Wells enjoyed an auto trip Sunday with friends from Los Angeles and drove to Sierra Madre in a Saxon 6. They went one way and came back another that they might see as much of the country as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks, former residents of Glendale but now living in Trona, are now in Southern California for an outing. Mrs. Hendricks was a guest of Mrs. P. A. Wells one day this week. They are now visiting in San Diego. Mr. Hendricks is master mechanic in the potash works at Trona.

Dr. T. C. Young who spent a portion of last week at Big Bear trout fishing, returned Sunday. He seems to have had his share of the luck and was able to bestow upon his friends some of the returns which they say were so delicious that they hope he will go again and have even better luck.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair tonight and Thursday except cloudy or foggy tonight and in the early morning.

Mrs. Lida Border of Louise street accompanies Mrs. H. E. Bartlett who goes north as the representative of Chapter L to attend the P. E. O. Convention, which is to be held in Palo Alto and not in San Jose. Mrs. Border had the pleasure of entertaining her sister, Miss Myra Bartlett, as a week-end guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Weaver are in receipt of cheerful letters from their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Weaver, who, with her baby, is now with her parents and sister in Syracuse, N. Y. She has sent them pictures of her little daughter which show that she is a fine big girl, and she reports that she is creeping everywhere "on the ranch." Her own health appears to be considerably improved.

Mr. Taylor, who has been visiting his son, C. T. Taylor, of 1236 East Colorado street, has been summoned east to the bedside of his wife who is reported to be lying at the point of death. She, too, had been in Glendale where she had an attack of influenza from which she never fully recovered. She returned to the east two or three weeks ago. Weakness of the heart is thought to be the dangerous feature of her present illness but full particulars have not been received by the Taylor family.

BOY SCOUT OFFICIALS

At a meeting of the Glendale Council of the Boy Scouts of America, held recently at the Intermediate School, the following officers were elected: David Black, president; Charles H. Toll, vice-president; Herman Nelson, treasurer; Charles W. Ingledue, secretary; Ernest E. Harwood, commissioner. These officers with the addition of two more, Chas. B. Guthrie and Harry L. Howe, constitute the Executive Committee.

The following members constitute the Court of Honor: Dan Campbell, George U. Moyse, Robert McCourt, Albert C. Reed, Richardson D. White. These five with the following additional members constitute the entire Council, viz., E. K. Barnes, Charles L. Chandler, James E. Eckles, Sam R. Frazee, Roy Kent, Cameron D. Thom, John Robert White, Jr., Oliver O. Clark, A. T. Cowan, C. G. Farrow, H. V. Henry, Claire T. Van Eten, W. C. Wattles.

BANQUET FOR FIGHTING MEN

At the Casa Verdugo Church last Monday night a banquet was given in honor of returned soldiers, men of the church who had participated in the war, covers being laid for all the men and boys of the community. About 50 were present. Dr. E. H. Willisford told of his experiences in Y. M. C. A. work overseas, and David Black of his work at Camp Kearny.

DEATH OF MRS. N. H. PARDON

Edith Louise Ward, youngest daughter of Jared and Margaret Ward, was born at Whiteford, Michigan, July 29, 1873; died at Glendale, California, May 5, 1919, aged 45 years, 9 months and 6 days. February 2, 1898, she was married to Norton H. Pardon, who, with three daughters, her mother, one sister and two brothers survives. Her early life was spent in educational work. After finishing her normal training she spent a number of years teaching in the schools of Michigan, and after coming to California still retained such an interest in the work that those who came in touch with her will cherish her memory and reap where she has sown. Funeral services were held at the family residence, 1108 Oakwood avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Grand View cemetery.

Another lamb is gathered to that heavenly fold above. One whom to know, as we have known her here, was but to love.

And when we wonder, why so soon? We hear a gentle voice In accents soft and low reply, she was the Shepherd's choice.

ONE POULTRY RAISER DISSENTS

Mrs. Clem Moore of 360 West California avenue emphatically dissents from the statement in last evening's News that poultry raisers are having a bad season. She said that as far as she is concerned, this is the best season ever experienced. Her hatches have been close to 100 per cent, and the hatching eggs she has sold produced very heavily. She lays it all to her system of housing and feeding, and will be glad to counsel with any less fortunate poultry raisers. The Evening News is glad to learn of one exception to the chorus of complaint of adverse conditions in the business.

INTERMEDIATE BALL GAME

The contest today was between Angels and Tigers. Horatio Butts pitched for Angels, Gordon Richardson for Tigers. Four innings were played and the final score was 4 to 3 in favor of Tigers.

MRS. SPENCER LOSES BROTHER

Warren G. Street of Pasadena, brother of Mrs. O. L. Spencer of this city, was found dead on the floor of his room Sunday morning, May 4, 1918, by his sister, Mrs. Luella Craig, with whom he had made his home. Examining physicians who were summoned declared that death had resulted from rupture of the heart. Besides the relatives mentioned he leaves a brother, Dr. Carl Johnston, of Los Angeles and another brother in Cripple Creek, Colo. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, the Jewel City Undertaking Company having charge. Deceased was 62 years of age.

BRIGHT REAL ESTATE OUTLOOK

Calvin Whiting, the real estate operator, states that a good many sales of lots are being made to equalize inequalities in properties traded. He also says the demand for Glendale property is so great that there is very little haggling over prices or bargain hunting. Also, most of the buyers want good houses. Sales and resales are being made of the same property. He cited as an instance property sold by him last month which has since been repaired and improved and is now on the market for re-sale on the basis of a fair profit on the improvements made. When the common remark of the tourist that "everything in California is for sale," was quoted, he said it was true and an excellent thing, too, because it shows that our people do not get into ruts and are not tied down to "things," that he himself likes to move occasionally just for a change of view and general environment. For this reason he does not fear that the stock of houses and lots to be sold in Glendale will ever be exhausted because they can all be resold on a higher scale of values.

WIDOWED FRENCH MOTHERS

The mothers of young families in America must surely have a warm spot in their hearts for the mothers of young children in France. Thousands of French mothers have lost their husbands in this cruel war, and the family income has been swept away just at the time it was most needed. Many mothers of youngsters under 16 years of age found employment in munition factories and other manufacturing plants which sprang into existence during the war. These plants have now been closed down, the mothers have been thrown out of work, and their hardships are even greater now than they were during the period of the war.

When we think of the happy families in Glendale, where the boys and girls have plenty to eat and drink, where the fathers are the natural breadwinners, and the mothers may follow in peace their joyful duties of ministering to their children's physical and mental comfort, we wonder whether we mothers of America realize our blessings. With what tender thoughts of love and sympathy should we reach out our hands to those mothers in France, who used to be as happy and peaceful as we now are, but who today are worn

With all my fixed purpose, courage and determination, I never could have realized my desires if the enthusiasm that is built on love of my work had not been their foundation. Work, no matter how absorbing and interesting it may be, is at times taxing, and unless it is a vital part of your existence you can never make a success of it.

THE TELEPHONE SITUATION

123,000, traffic expenses consumed $48,140,000; commercial expenses, $18,084,000; general and miscellaneous expenses, $8,899,000, and taxes $13,621,000. On page 9 we find that there is a further debit of $2,686,000 for rent and miscellaneous and for interest $12,715,000, also a revenue item of $5,128,000 "non-operating," leaving a net balance of $28,893,000.

The "system" bluntly states: "To the stockholders," that it paid in dividends at 8 per cent. out of this amount $23,121,000, and had as a surplus $5,772,000. Verily, fellow citizens, the "necessity of securing additional revenue" by this unfortunate corporation "struggling" (see page 49) with the general increase of expense" must be apparent to us all.

Going back to the heaviest item of expense $54,123,000 for depreciation and maintenance we find that (see page 6) the total amount set aside for depreciation and obsolescence for the year was $54,000,000 and that "after meeting all proper charges against the depreciation reserve on account of plants removed or reconstructed the reserve at the end of the year had increased $34,000,000," and (see page 8) "the surplus and reserve, aggregating over $340,000,000, an increase of over $36,000,000, is invested in productive property."

As a further index to the abnormal growth of this protected monopoly in this country take the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. individually. In 1900 in round numbers its net revenue was $5,486,000, dividends paid $4,078,000, added to reserves $937,000, added to surplus $470,000; in 1918 its net revenue increased to $43,901,000, dividends paid $35,229,000, added to reserve $5,000,000, added to surplus $3,671,000 (see page 59).

"Upon what meat doth this our Caesar feed that he is grown so great?" and yet our Postmaster General in his wisdom takes to himself disputed power and elects to assist this same monopoly to reach farther down into the pockets of the people. Regarding this report makes the following admission: (see page 32). "The state authorities have been disposed to question the power of the President of the United States, acting through the Postmaster General—to fix the intrastate rates and charges of telephone companies, and suits have already been brought in about one-half of the states involving the question."

In the report Theodore N. Vail, president of the corporation, makes an extended and labored argument in favor of uncontrolled monopoly during which he uses the following language: "There is little doubt remaining in the minds of the public, but that regulated monopoly is better than unregulated Government ownership." How about the post-office and its activities?

"If there is to be control and regulation there can be no competition in any unrestricted sense of the word." "Uncontrolled control and regulation and unequal competition have greater power for evil than exists if the systems were left to their unrestricted course." Uncontrolled control—say, has anyone seen a white black nigger in the Glendale telephone woodpile lately?

So much for the general situation. Now in regard to the claim that Glendale has been a favored locality in the matter of telephone rates, suppose this to be true, could not a system that by its own report last year made and "invested in productive property" surplus profits at the rate of a million dollars every ten days revise the rates of the rest of the country the other way a trifle and so equalize the discrepancy if any exists?

Now as to the local situation, and the policy of the company, this policy was clearly shown when the company went before Commissioner Gordon of the Railroad Commission and was granted permission to buy and pay for the local competing telephone company's property over ninety thousand dollars when the owner offered the property at fifty-four thousand dollars (paid the investment). It is further shown when the company purchases one of the most expensive lots in Glendale and proceeds to erect a marble palace thereon with money derived from its patrons for depreciation and obsolescence (see page 33) of $120,000 "for Glendale" (paid the investment). And how does the "system" work? It is very simple. The company determines to dig a little deeper in the pockets of its patrons and it goes before the Railroad Commission or Mr. Burleson and says, "We have invested in Glendale recently $120,000 and must have proper returns on such investment." All right, put on a toll charge and raise the exchange rate. And now let us analyze this $120,000 investment as a sample of what may properly be assumed to be going on all over the country, and as to how it affects us: To begin with as explicitly stated by the company the money comes from its patrons direct (see page 38). Interest on this sum at 6 per cent. is $7,200, "appropriation from current revenue for depreciation and obsolescence" 5.72 per cent., $6,864, taxes at 40 per cent. of valuation, approximating $800. As to dividends (see page 34) "unexpended depreciation shall be invested in property of the system," "the nominal value of the securities shall not exceed 80 per cent. of the amount expended in the property." If this means that the usual dividends, 8 per cent., are provided for on the new capital we have $7,680 more, a total of $22,544, if not the total is $14,864 which deducting the rent formerly paid by the company is the sum we must pay yearly for our new telephone whistle, marble lined.

And the real beauty of the System's system lies in the depreciation scheme. In the short space of seventeen and one-half years the company will appropriate from current revenue the entire cost and will have yearly reinvested the amount not used for the purpose specified, which last year was (see page 6) practically three-fifths of the $54,000,000 so appropriated, in a similar endless chain of additional "productive property."

If the business of our Postoffice Department should be turned over to private interests and managed under a like "system," can any one doubt that the people of Glendale would soon be required to pay a minimum of $2.25 monthly for box rent and ten cents for each letter to Los Angeles?

G. B. W.

Following is the form of the order adopted:

"Glendale, California.

"To the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.:

"I hereby order the removal of telephone No. located at California.

Subscriber."

The report of the committee was at once adopted and the committee was ordered to put the orders for removal of telephones in circulation immediately.

W. B. Kirk expressed himself as being of the opinion that no progressive community could be without a telephone exchange and recommended that in case the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. refused to accede to the rights of the subscribers as outlined in the resolution just adopted, immediate steps be taken to organize a municipal telephone system. This recommendation was heartily approved by members of the association, and on motion E. U. Emery, F. V. Owen and V. M. Hollister were appointed as a committee to confer with the trustees of the city of Glendale with a view of employing a competent engineer to report as to the cost of an adequate municipal telephone exchange. Reports from members present gave evidence that a municipal telephone system, conducted without profit, could give excellent service to the patrons at about one-half the present rental price of phones.

There seems to be a determination on the part of the members of the Glendale Development Association to use every possible effort to protect the interests of the Glendale community against the injury being done by the recent action of the telephone company.

The members of the committee appointed to circulate the petition ask the assistance of telephone users in getting these petitions before the people. Persons wishing to assist should communicate with Captain D. Ripley Jackson of the Glendale Plant & Floral Co., 124 South Brand Boulevard. Phone Glendale 1030.

A petition was presented from fifty residents of the northwestern section of the Glendale community, who are now receiving mail on a Burbank rural delivery route, asking that they

EVERYBODY SATISFIED AND HAPPY

It is rather fortunate when a controversy terminates in a settlement wherein each side claims to have the best of it. Such was the outcome of the recent strike of Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Company workers. The company advertises the fact that a "satisfactory settlement" was reached in which their contentions were upheld. The employees, on the contrary, are jubilant, claiming they won every point they fought for.

AMERICAN PEOPLE DEMAND LEAGUE OF NATIONS

While it is conceded that the League of Nations will be approved by the Senate when Congress is called together in special session, there are some recalcitrants who still declaim against and such pact. Among these are Senators Borah, McCormick and Poindexter. All are able men and have done the country great service in some ways, but they utterly misunderstand the American people when they take such a stand. By a vast majority citizens of the United States demand a League of Nations. They realize that even the revised draft has some imperfections, but that is only because those who drew it up are but human. Mistakes can be rectified as time and events point them out, but the almost unanimous voice of the American people is for a League of Nations.
